

SOURCES

The 2009 Alameda County Housing Element Update utilized data from the following sources:

- Alameda County Community Development Agency and Public Works Administration, Geographic Information Systems
- Alameda County Community Development Agency and Public Works Administration, Electronic Development and Permit Tracking System
- Alameda County Department of Housing and Community Development, Consolidated Plan
- Alameda County General and Specific Plans:
 - Ashland and Cherryland Business Districts Specific Plan, 1993
 - Castro Valley Central Business District Specific Plan, 1994
 - Fairview Area Specific Plan, 1997
 - Madison Avenue Plan, 2006
 - San Lorenzo Village Center Specific Plan, 2004
 - Draft Eden Area Plan, 2007
 - Draft Castro Valley Plan, 2007
- Alameda County Housing Element, 2003
- Alameda County Ordinance Code: Title 16 (Subdivisions) and Title 17 (Planning and Zoning)
- Alameda County Public Works Administration, Flood and Alquist-Priolo Zone Maps
- Association of Bay Area Governments, Regional Housing Needs Assessment, 2008
- Association of Bay Area Governments, San Francisco Bay Area Housing Needs Plan: 2007-2014, 2008
- California Department of Finance
- California Department of Housing and Community Development
- California Employment Development Department
- California Government Code
- California Housing Partnership Corporation
- DQNews, www.dqnews.com
- U.S. Census Bureau, 2000.
- Alameda Countywide Homeless and Special Needs Housing Plan, 2006
- Association of Bay Area Governments, A Place to Call Home: Housing in the San Francisco Bay Area (updated August 2007)