The Alameda County Registrar of Voters Office released updated election results this afternoon as staff neared completion of post-Election Day ballot counting from the November 8 General Election.

Updates posted to the Registrar's website, www.acvote.org, reflect an additional 70,402 ballots counted since the unofficial vote totals were last updated on Monday, November 14.

Registrar of Voters Tim Dupuis said his staff has completed processing vote-by-mail ballots and is working through the final remaining provisional ballots. "We are down to the very last votes," he said. "We will finish processing ballots either Thursday or Friday."

Dupuis said updated results will be posted on the Registrar's website either Thursday afternoon or Friday, depending on which day ballot processing is completed.

The latest results show that Alameda County has counted ballots submitted by 632,607 voters. That represents a 71.18 percent turnout of Alameda County's 888,709 registered voters.

Under State law, Alameda County has until December 8 to certify its election results.
