Introduction

The Early Childhood Mental Health Systems Group and the Alameda County Child Care Planning Council are pleased to present this updated and expanded directory of early childhood mental health services and child care mental health services and consultation. The organizations and individuals contained in this list completed a survey developed during the summer of 2005. This directory was first published in February 2002 as part of a larger document titled “Preventative Mental Health Services for Young Children in Alameda County: An Action Plan to Meet the Urgent Needs of Children, Caregivers, and Families.”

The information provided here does not necessarily constitute a recommendation. This directory is intended to serve as a resource. Those seeking information should assess the quality of the services by interviewing those listed here and also by speaking with references.

Please note that this is a dynamic document that reflects a particular point in time and is intended to depict the broad range and scope of services currently offered in Alameda County. Many of the listed organizations do not exclusively serve children ages 0-5, nor are they accessible to all families. In addition, the frequency, availability and type of services may change or vary due to shifts in staff, funding and other factors. Some of the listed persons or organizations may be limited in their ability to serve additional clients. Some agencies exclusively serve children and families that are enrolled in their program. Please read the descriptions carefully to identify those that may be contacted for assistance.

We made every effort to contact and identify all providers who offer child care mental health and early childhood mental health services in Alameda County. Additional mental health providers who serve young children in Alameda County may not have been identified and accordingly included at this time.

Please contact the Alameda County Child Care Planning Council at 1401 Lakeside Dr., 10th floor, Oakland, CA 94612; phone (510) 208-9675, fax (510) 208-9579, or angie.garling@acgov.org regarding additions or changes to future versions of this directory or for additional copies of this directory. You may also download an electronic version via the internet at www.acgov.org/childcare/index.html.

Additions and changes to the directory

In 2003-2004 Alameda County Behavioral Health Care Services funded several new and existing programs to provide services to children and families in Alameda County. The funding source for this increase in service delivery is EPSDT (Early Periodic Screening, Diagnosis and Treatment). EPSDT is a Medi-Cal entitlement for children 0-21 that is designed to provide mental health services that can ameliorate mental health problems. Sixteen percent of the overall EPSDT budget is for mental health services to children 0-6 and their families. Mental health agencies that are EPSDT contracted agencies (who accept EPSDT as a payment for services) are noted in this directory by an asterisk (*). If there is a question whether an agency accepts EPSDT funding, please contact that agency directly.

We have also included a listing of providers by service category to allow for more efficient use of the directory. You may now search the directory for agencies that provide information, assessment, child care consultation, mental health treatment, fee-for-service mental health treatment, and therapeutic preschools. As with the agency descriptions and the rest of the directory, these categories reflect the services reported by the agencies at the time of printing.

In addition, survey respondents listed all child care programs and Head Start sites they serve. While this list is not included in the directory due to the dynamic nature of the programs and services, at the time of printing agencies reported that there were 104 child care and Head Start sites receiving some form of child care mental health consultation services in Alameda County, or 18% of the total number of centers. When we last surveyed providers in 2001, they reported that only 64 programs, or less than 10 percent, were receiving similar services. This is an encouraging increase in the number of programs receiving services, but still lags far behind San Francisco, which provides services to over 75% of its centers as well as over 100 family child care homes.
About the Early Childhood Mental Health Systems Development Group

In response to requests from the child care community to develop and identify resources for children’s mental health services, a group of individuals began meeting on a regular basis in early 2000. The group, now known as the Early Childhood Mental Health Systems Group, is a subcommittee of the Alameda County Child Care Planning Council. Its mission is to advocate for, develop and facilitate the implementation of a community-based, county-wide system of preventive mental health and treatment services for all young children (prenatal to age five) and their families within the home, child care and the community. The Group consists of child care providers, various early childhood and child care mental health providers and other interested individuals.

About the Alameda County Child Care Planning Council

The Alameda County Child Care Planning Council advises and makes recommendations to policy makers to ensure that all children and families have access to quality child care that educates children and enriches their lives. Our goals for 2004 – 2007 are to advocate for children, families and child care providers, evaluate the status and needs of child care in Alameda County, increase, retain and maximize resources for child care and increase the capacity of the general membership and the steering committee to represent the diversity of Alameda County.

The Alameda County Child Care Planning Council values . . .

Advocacy and public policy activism for all – children, families, providers and communities

- Ongoing and consistent emphasis on children’s overall needs, inclusive of all domains of development

- Quality early care and education for all children in a variety of settings

- Building collaborations and partnerships between families, providers and community resources

- Resource development and dissemination of information

- The development and implementation of cultural competency to meet the needs of our diverse communities

About Safe Passages’ Oakland Early Childhood Initiative

Safe Passages is a partnership of the City of Oakland, Alameda County, the Oakland Unified School District, and other community agencies, working to better coordinate resources and make policies that help improve the quality of life for Oakland’s youth. The Safe Passages Early Childhood Policy Committee has been meeting regularly and has made recommendations to improve identification and service delivery to young children exposed to violence. The Initiative includes four areas: 1) coordination of services, 2) identification of children exposed to violence, 3) a violence prevention curriculum for early care and education sites, and 4) mental health services, which include assessment, mental health consultations at early education sites, and infant/child-parent psychotherapy.
