The Eden Township Healthcare District was established by the voters in 1948 to build and operate a hospital initially known as Eden Hospital. The District covers Eden Township, which includes the unincorporated areas of Ashland, Castro Valley, Cherryland, Fairview, and San Lorenzo, and the cities of Hayward and San Leandro. The Eden Hospital opened in November 1954. In 1997 the District sold the hospital, then known as Eden Medical Center, to Sutter Health. Today the District owns medical office buildings in Castro Valley, San Leandro, and Dublin, and administers a Community Grant Fund.
