BACKGROUND: Nancy's House is the new residential supportive services home for youth, in Hayward. It is named after District Attorney Nancy O'Malley, who made this House possible and to recognize her career-long efforts to combat human trafficking in Alameda County.

Nancy's House provides low-barrier emergency and transitional housing for youth ages 18-20 who have been sex trafficked. It is operated by Ruby's Place, a regional leader in supportive services for victims of all forms of human trafficking.

Nancy's House will provide wrap-around care for each young person in the house, including: healthy food, a safe and secure place to sleep, and case management to help them identify a plan for a safe place to live long term.
